BANFF SPRINGS HOTEL

CHATEAU LAKE LOUISE

Forty miles apart but close neighbours amid the limitless wonders of Banff National Park, Alberta, Canada, two of the world's outstanding mountain resorts welcome you to the Canadian Rockies.
Little more than overnight from the Pacific Coast, easy to reach by the transcontinental Canadian Pacific Railway and its connections, by road or air, Banff and Lake Louise — gems of modern hotel operation in unequalled scenic settings — offer the exhilaration of sunny mountain days,
the restful sleep of cool mountain nights.

CANADIAN PACIFIC HOTELS

Banff

Incredible as a "castle in the air", sturdy as its surrounding mountains, Banff Springs Hotel highlights North America's fabulous mountain playground — the Canadian Rockies!

Poised in granite splendour above the rippling Spray River at its confluence with the rushing, tumbling stream known to the Indians as the Bow, Banff Springs Hotel commands a million dollar view — Cascade Mountain, Tunnel Mountain, Mount Rundle, and, in between them, a championship golf course noted for the vista'd beauty of its fairways, its challenge to players of every calibre. Below the chair-filled terrace, where shuffleboard courts tease the mildly energetic, where colourful chairs tempt lazy lovers of mountain scenery, are the swimming pools — outdoors and in — warmed, faintly tinged with healthful sulphur from hidden springs. Tennis courts, fast en tout cas, adjoin the paddock where tribal games mark the colourful "Indian Days" summer festival.

All this — and the most unusual summer resort hotel you ever enjoyed! Magnificent public rooms, 700 guest rooms, two dining rooms, tavern, ball-room, great open fireplaces, library, shops, bank, transportation office, room service, barbershop, beauty parlour — everything you'd expect of a modern metropolitan hotel.

An aerial photograph of a mountainous landscape. In the foreground, there is a large, curved, outdoor swimming pool with a paved deck and some lounge chairs. Beyond the pool is a dense forest of evergreen trees. In the middle ground, a wide river or lake flows through a valley. The background features steep, rocky mountains with patches of forest and snow.

Golf!

Banff's golf challenge — the 18-hole, 6704 yard, Par 71 course. Teed for "par-hunters", good, and average golfers, Banff's spacious grass tees; lush, watered fairways; smooth, sporty greens test any handicap.

Beauty is the greatest mental hazard, but clever designing has contrived more normal traps as well. Long, medium and short tees put Banff's outstanding course on every player's list, offer its beauties — golf or scenic — even to newcomers to the game.

Big-horn sheep sometimes venture close to the hotel. More often the trail-rider or cautious hiker sees them. Moose feed in nearby Vermilion Lakes.

All of the rooms with bath and suites — at rates to meet luxury or economy budgets — command mountain scenery. Canadian Pacific operation promises you the ultimate in comfort and service. Cool nights refresh you after strenuous days, invigorating mountain air readies you for adventuresome morrows.

In the magnificent Alhambra Dining Room you'll enjoy epicurean meals, deftly served under the eyes of helpful head-waiters, enjoy creations of world-famous chefs or treat your healthy appetite to big, thick steaks. The Empire-style ballroom, (and the moon-filled Conservatory for sitting out) echoes the strains of a name band every week-night.

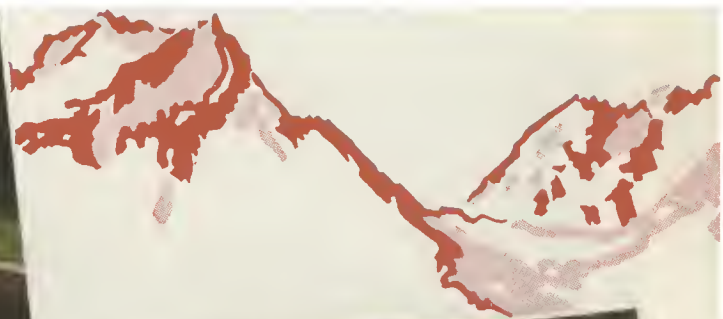

Between the flower-decked terrace gardens and Cascade Mountain in the distance lies the conifer-bordered avenue that links Banff Springs Hotel with the bustling town where there are churches, stores, movies, boat liveries, and the Banff School of Fine Arts.

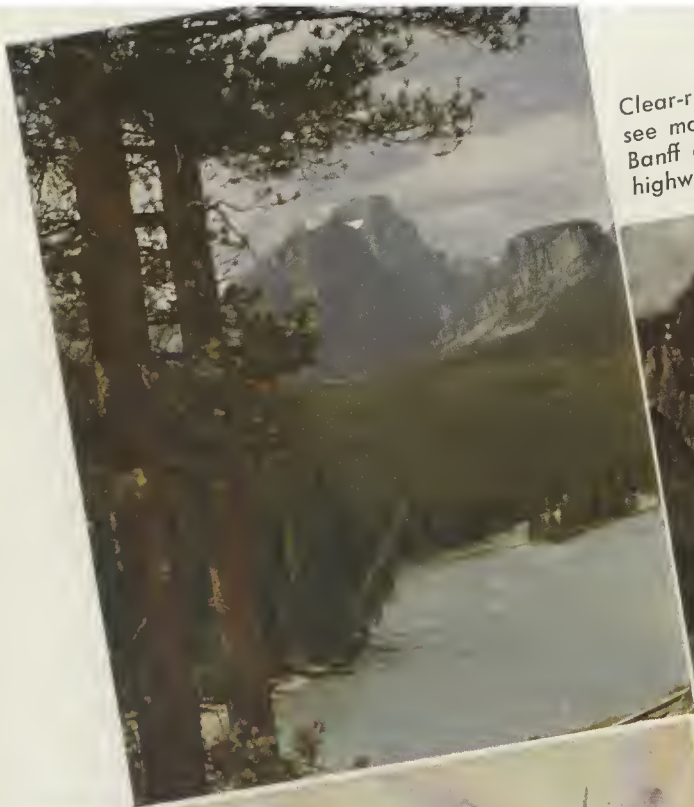

Massive as the great hall of a medieval castle Mount Stephen Hall sees brilliant social events — after dinner concerts and recitals, natural history talks, Sunday evening musicales.

Transparent-topped cars and busses simplify sight-seeing in this land of high peaks and towering mountains. Daily drives offer many choices of route. And on your way drivers wise in the ways of bear, deer, elk, sheep and goats point out these wild citizens of the great game sanctuary that surrounds Banff and Lake Louise. Motorboats or canoes on the lakes and rivers open new fields for exploration.

Clear-roofed so you can lean back and see mountain-tops in comfort, busses link Banff and Lake Louise, on a broad highway that parallels the Bow River.

Motor highways and trails reward drives or walks — or cycle trips on rented bikes. Tours are listed in the lobby and can be arranged at the Brewster Transport Desk.

Chateau Lake Louise

Companionable as a villa on the Riviera, Chateau Lake Louise is wide-windowed for your enjoyment of the ever-different unchanging glacier, topped with 400 feet of snow, reflected in the milky jade of the lake it feeds.

Ball-room, main lounge, drawing room, upper lounge and dining room all front on the lake and its lovely garden border. 400 bedrooms, every suite, picture mountain beauty in their windows. Skiffs and canoes on the lake, sturdy mountain ponies at the corral, help you to enjoy the quiet majesty of ageless peaks and timbered slopes. Well-marked trails lead to Lake Agnes Tea House, Mirror Lake, Plain of Six Glaciers (tea-house) and Victoria Glacier itself.

Picture windows, a magnificent fireplace at its head, the dining room at Chateau Lake Louise overlooks a fairyland. Chefs from famous hotels in the Canadian Pacific chain prepare meals to grace a king's table.

Purling streams to ford, wooded trails, the great outdoors, comfortable western saddle, sure-footed mountain cayuse, and a trail-wise dude-wrangler! No wonder you relax at Lake Louise — no wonder you sleep!

*Glass-enclosed, its glacier-born water filtered, ever-flowing, tempered to 72°, the pool at Chateau Lake Louise tempts youngsters of all ages. It's safe for children, too, at the shallow end under the eye of a watchful attendant.
And what could be nicer after a long hike or a stimulating ride?*

What shall I wear?

That's easy! Clothes suitable for riding, motoring, tennis, golf — and a swim suit. Evening clothes if you like — the settings are marvellous! Bring stout-soled shoes for walking, a light coat for cool evenings. Life is informal outdoors and in. Jackets are always worn in the dining rooms.

That's Victoria Glacier — right down the centre of Lake Louise. The flowers in the foreground? Iceland Poppies. Around the lake to the right trails lead to the Lakes in the Clouds, Plain of Six Glaciers, the Moraine. Take a lunch and make a day of it.

Facing lake or mountain, your accommodation in Chateau Lake Louise is modern, comfortable and spacious.
Impeccable Canadian Pacific service and long experience in resort operation promise you enjoyment.

Icefield Highway

Eighty miles of spectacular motoring takes you to the mighty Columbia Icefield — 150 square miles of deep-blue ice — where three great glaciers merge. It's a good, wide road, patrolled and maintained by the Government, and it's all in National Parks. You can drive right to the edge of the ice, or your bus will take you if you've wisely left your car at home so you can enjoy the scenery. And lunch at the Chalet will take the edge off your ice-born appetite. Tours leave Banff and Lake Louise every day.

Emerald Lake Chalet

Where? That's one of the beauties of Emerald Lake Chalet and its cottages. They're deep in the forest, shaded, cool, remote. Field is the station if you arrive by train, a few miles from Lake Louise on the Canadian Pacific transcontinental main line — or you can go by car or bus from Banff and Lake Louise. Emerald Lake was made to order for a care-free holiday. You can ride, fish, swim, hike and climb. Or spend your time lazily sunning on the verandah of your cottage. Where? Look closely at the right — across the lake — that's Emerald Lake Chalet, sheltered by Mount Burgess. Electric light, telephone, hot and cold running water and baths? Of course!
